How to Write An Adventure Film: El Dorado Lesson 1

Todays' lesson: youtu.be/bkbE1A1s\_Vk

We are starting a swashbuckling pirate adventure with Litfilmfest! You will be writing your own adventure story. We have now read chapter 1 of 'El Dorado' and like the characters in the story who are in search of the 'Lost City of Gold' you will create either a detective agency, or an explorer crew, to go in search of hidden treasure, or a secret island, or somewhere else... the story theme is up to you.

Tasks:

- The first task is for you to think of a name for your explorer crew or detective agency.
- Next think of a motto. Motto definition: a favourite saying of an individual, family or group (synonyms: slogan, catchphrase, mantra, war cry, rallying cry, battle cry, cry, watchword)
- Finally think about the theme for your adventure – where it will be set? What can you research about this place?

How to Write An Adventure Film: El Dorado Lesson 2

Today's lesson: youtu.be/gp6h\_wGPKI8

Today we will begin to think about our characters. We are going to write 2A sentences – that means we will use 2 different adjectives to describe each of our characters. Keep all of your ideas together. Don't forget to read, edit and improve your sentences and remember to check your punctuation.

Tasks:

Choose 3 of your characters and write a few sentences for each to describe them. Make sure you use some 2A sentences for each, and make them as interesting as possible. See the example from today's lesson below.

Robin is a funny, kindhearted boy with a fearless, determined nature.

Anthony is a heroic, daring explorer with an energetic, mysterious personality.

How to Write An Adventure Film: El Dorado Lesson 3

Todays' lesson: youtu.be/Lyj\_NuRt5J0

Today we will think a bit more about our characters to improve and build on our work from yesterday. You can always add more characters once you have finished the first three.

Tasks:

Write a paragraph about each character, about their likes/dislikes, personality and so on. Can you use these questions to write a full description?

How old are they? When did they start with your group?

What sort of personality do they have? Write at least 3 good traits and one bad trait.

What are their favourite hobbies? What are they like to work with?

Tell us an embarrassing or funny story or fact about them. Do they have any special skills?

Today's lesson: youtu.be/Ra6nOBI3cyM

In today's lesson we'll bring our characters to life in our first scene! This is the start of your movie, so introduce the character and the group.

Tasks:

- Film yourself (and your whoever else you can get involved) acting out what you've already written in the last few lessons.
- Speak slowly and clearly - do a test first to make sure you can be heard.
- How would your characters act?
- Keep the camera steady so the viewer doesn't feel sick!

How to Write An Adventure Film: El Dorado Lesson 5

Today's lesson: youtu.be/dOM7luLE2jM

In today's lesson we learn from author Emma Rae about writing characters using metaphor.

Tasks:

- Note down the ideas you hear about metaphors and similes in the video from Emma's writing.
- Write about your family or friends using metaphor - or go back over your script or filming from yesterday's El Dorado lesson. Could you add anything new in using metaphor?
